Summary: Let's see our dear bladers with a new perspective (Based on true events)

So We're The One

**Hello! Just another new concept has come into my mind, so giving it a try :P **

**It's based on a true event, after completing it, I'll inform you about it :D **

**So, let's start! **

It was a calm night. The wind was blowing perfectly. It was so soft and cold, but not uncomfortable. The round moon was spreading her soft rays all over the world as well as, she was busy in enlightening the sky. She was looking like a bride in her white appearance. Such a comfortable night it was!

Everybody was sleeping peacefully, in the comfortable night. Except one. The dual-haired boy was thinking deeply, about something.

"I don't know..." thought he, "When I used to lead Blade Sharks, I...I've won every possible trophy on behalf of the team. Even, I have won the record number of my personal prizes. But with bladebreakers...why?"

Suddenly, his mobile phone made a sound, reminding him that a notification has come.

He checked the inbox. It was the message of the red-haired Russian, one of his friends and perhaps, closest friends. He opened the message.

"Hello Kai!" there was written, "Trophy? Forget it! Because only and only the Blitzkrieg boys have the right to win this. Anyway, good luck. :P"

Kai smirked. He thought, "Oh Tala, why are you being so confident? Over-confidence isn't safe, don't you know?"

Suddenly, he felt four hands on his shoulder. He looked behind.

"Being tensed about the tournament, aren't you?" asked a raven-haired boy.

Kai nodded, heaving a sigh.

"We know." said an American, "But you don't worry. As long as we all are with you, we will win the trophy, surely!"

"Yes, and the whole world will be surprised." a navy-haired boy said, "And we also know, you've won every possible thing on behalf of your old team. But when we will win the world cup, your name will be written in golden words in the history of football."

Kai smiled dimly, closing his eyes.

Really, somebody is really important when you're worried.

_**Put your flags up in the sky**_

_**And wave them side to side**_

_**Show the world where you're from**_

_**Show the world we're one (One love, life) **_

The chocolate-haired girl was watching the beginning ceremony of the tournament, with the theme song sung by Ming-Ming, a singer. But the song wasn't enough at all for removing the tension from her mind.

"Oh Bladebreakers!" she whispered, "Don't know what will happen."

"Hey Hils!"

Hilary looked behind, hearing the familiar female voice. The pink-haired girl brought a smile on her face.

"Mariah, you're here?" she said, cheerfully.

"C'mon Hilary..." said Mariah, "Stop your tension. I know, bladebreakers will win surely."

"I wish your words come out true, Riah." said the brunette, "The bladebreakers haven't won a single trophy since many days. And, the paparazzis started their work, specially on Kai. He's a good footballer. Not only a good footballer, but also one of the best footballers in the whole world. But he hasn't tasted the taste of winning the world cup yet. All the criticizers are saying that he has only played good on behalf of blade sharks. Think, what can be going through his heart?"

"Ha ha ha!" suddenly the girls heard a laughter and looked at its source. It was another girl, their friend, who had orange bangs and brown hair.

"What do you think, ladies?" she chuckled, "Can bladebreakers win the world cup? Never, as long as the Blitzkrieg boys are here. And Kai? Huh! Well, he had only a lots of personal prizes. But when it comes to his team, he got fused. And why not? He has not good relation with his teammates. Even, the supporters of bladebreakers don't like him very much, though you continue telling, 'Kai and Kai is the light of bladebreakers.' Ha ha ha!"

Hilary looked down. She was feeling like kill her best friend right now. She clenched her teeth. Her eyes were almost swimming in tears.

Mariah looked at her. She smiled dimly.

"C'mon Juli..." she said, "You're such a killjoy. We're just watching it for entertainment. And you've started fighting with it? Hats off to you, girl!"

"Oh, for only entertainment?" She said, smirking, "Then why don't you say that you haven't any crush for Ray Kon?"

"Juli..."

Hilary wiped her tears quietly.

""

""

"Let's make a plan!" said the navy-haired boy, cheerfully.

"C'mon Tyson, don't be so cheerful." said a raven-haired boy, "Though the Blitzkrieg has won their first match in 3-1 goals, but the Majestics lost their match against the All Starzs."

"I just can't believe my own eyes, guys." an American said, "Seeing the match, who'll say that they were the champion of the last world cup?"

"Nobody." said Tyson, "But see, the BEGA won their first match in 4-0 goals."

Ray heaved a sigh.

"Don't say anything about that team, Tyson." said he, "It reminds us about our loss in the last world cup." His voice was about broken.

"C'mon Ray, control yourself." said Max, "This time, such things will never happen."

"Kai...won't you say something?" Tyson asked their leader.

"Hnn..." Kai uttered, "I just wanna say that we have to be careful."

"Knew it." Tyson said, being irritated, "So guys, we'll win our first match. Say, three cheers for bladebreakers!"

"Hip...Hip...Hurrah..!" The rest bladers amused in joy.

**(Next day) **

"Everybody's eyes are stared, at our dear footballers in the field, or our brave fighters in the battlefield!" said the commentator, "There's the hot favorite bladebreakers are playing, giving their real identity."

"Though team Spintensity isn't famous, but they aren't also giving up!" said another.

"As we can see, the hottest Kai Hiwatari is running forward with the ball, with a speed of light!" the first commentated, "Although the defenders are trying to stop him and defend their own, but looks like...Oh no, see our dear spectators, Hiwatari stopped and kicked with an eye of hawk, with also a controlled speed! And it has gone...to the net!"

"Goooooaaaaaal...!" screamed another commentator.

Every player of bladebreakers surrounded Kai. Kai closed his eyes. Yes, he owned. After a long time, he owned a goal on behalf of bladebreakers.

His happiness didn't know any bound. It was so much that it couldn't help touching a brown-haired girl, sitting in the gallery.

"Hey, yesterday's match was so tough." said a dual-haired girl, smilingly, "I thought...we would lose. It was a thrilling match. I was almost screamed out fear at every single second. Thank God, my Blitzkrieg managed it to win the match and to go to the quarter final."

"Hnn..I've watched it." Her brunette friend said, "Though Tala looks cold from the outer, but he cried, hugging Spencer after winning the match."

At that comment of her, Julia blushed a bit.

"C'mon Hils, never judge a book by it's cover." said she, "Although my Tala looks haughty, but his heart is very soft from inside. He's so emotional and loves his team. That's why, I love him."

Adding an eye roll, a pink-haired girl said, "Hey, don't forget to see today's match. Because it's the exam of bladebreakers."

"I know." Hilary said, "And of course...the bladebreakers will also manage."

.....
.....

"The first 90 minutes are over, the extra time is going on."
announced a commentator.

Another said, "Also it's going to over within a few minutes. But look, the life saver of bladebreakers, the mighty Kai Hiwatari has again entered into the half of the opponent. The goalpost is empty, although the defenders are surrounding him."

"What will he do?"

The hearts of two girls started beating fast.

"God, please make their path to the quarter final." prayed they both.

Kai was looking at the left side from the right side. He didn't know what to do. But luckily all on a sudden, he heard a voice from his teammate.

"Kai, I'm here." yelled the raven-haired boy, "Pass me the ball."

Kai closed his eyes. Then he kicked at the ball. Within a few seconds, he heard the screaming of the spectators. Opening his eyes, he saw that the raven-haired boy, rushing to him, embraced him in happiness.

"Thank you so much, Kai." whispered he, "Just for you, see, we've made our path to the semi-finale."

"I know." said the dual-haired boy, "But don't thank me, it's the score scored by you."

And about the two girls in gallery? Their happiness wasn't knowing any bound at that time.

The dual-haired girl was crying. Tears were flowing from her jade green eyes. Her cheeks were almost red.

"Julia, please stop crying now." Hilary consoled her best friend, "Tala will be alright."

"How?" Julia asked, wiping her tears, "He had a great injury in his backbone. His world cup has been finished. Blitzkrieg boys has lost their match against BEGA in 7-1 goals! Seven goals! Can you imagine it?" as she burst into tears.

"Please Juli, control yourself." said a pink-haired girl, "At least have some gratefulness to the God that his career hasn't ended. Do you know, he may be paralyzed..."

"Mariah, how dare you to tell such things!" Julia burst out anger, "Opps, I've forgotten that how you'll understand my pain. You'll only understand it when you'll see your own crush groaning in pain in the field. Huh!"

"Julia, what are you saying?" Hilary comforted her, "See, we don't wish evil for Blitzkrieg boys. We were just feeling sorry for the incident which happened with them. But look, how fearless Tala is! After losing the match of Blitzkrieg boys, he had to cry. But instead of crying, he...he went to his team's camp, leaving the hospital for comforting them. Such a determined footballer he is! And being his fan, you're..."

Julia looked at Hilary. Wiping tears, she said, "Sorry Hilary, I mustn't have said so to you both. But I don't know why..."

"You don't need to be sorry, Juli." said Mariah, "We can understand what is going through you."

"Hnn...I've just tension for our semi-final." Hilary said, worrying.

"120 minutes are going to be finished. Still, every time hasn't scored a single yet." said a commentator.

"Yeah Brad, we've to see that this match is going between bladebreakers and all starzs." Another said, "Bladebreakers is burning in the fire of hunger of getting a trophy. And the All starzs also won't leave it so easily. They are the runner-up of the last world cup. Haven't you remembered how they made the mango juice of Majestics in this world cup?"

"Sure." said the first.

"Look look, Ray, from the Bladebreakers are running forward towards the opponent's post with the ball. My God, what a speed! I can bet, nobody will be able to stop him. He's just going with the speed of a light."

"C'mon Ray, make it!" Mariah yelled, from the gallery.

"Good job Ray." said Tyson, "Now have a score."

Ray was about to shoot the ball. But no sooner had he been about to kick it than somebody tackled him with his whole strength at his right foot. For the powerful tackle, Ray fell on the ground.

"Ray!" everybody in his team exclaimed, rushing to him.

The raven-haired boy was groaning in pain. He wasn't being able to move his right foot.

"Ray, you alright?" asked Tyson, concerning, sitting beside him.

"Can't...move...Ah!" Ray couldn't complete his sentence as he felt the sharp pain again.

"Medics!" Max yelled, "Please come here."

Some staffs entered into the field. They picked Ray on a stretcher and went.

"Don't worry, Ray." thought Kai, "We'll win this match."

**At the tiebreaker round:****

"This's the last from the bladebreakers." announced a commentator, "The shot will be taken by Daichi, the angry and the youngest member of bladebreakers."

"Before it, they made 3 attempts by Kai, Tyson and Kenny and became successful in all the times." another said, "But as for the All Starzs, they also made three attempts but became successful for two times only. The goalkeeper of Bladebreakers, Max Tate, has saved their first and last shot easily."

Daichi took a long breath. Then he looked everything. Making his target, he shot the ball. And it entered into the net. The whole gallery burst out clapping and screaming. The bladebreakers were also enjoying the moment. Why not? After a long time, they made it to the final.

But their happiness got faded, when they heard the news that their comrade, Ray wouldn't be fit for playing in the next match.

**(After finishing the final)****

The boy locked himself in a room. He was so much broken from inside. He was feeling like to burst into tears. But don't know why, he couldn't do that.

The dual-haired boy gritted his teeth and hand. He looked down. Slowly, a drop of tears trickled down from his crimson-colored eyes.

"I can't...I can't do it." thought he, "Though I've been awarded with the prize of the most outstanding footballer of this tournament, but can't win the match. I thought...I would bring the trophy to my dear supporters and teammates. What was their mistake? They were always with me, weren't they? But alas! I've been failed..."

"Kai, please open the door." said a voice of a navy-haired boy.

"Till when will you lock yourself in this room?" An American said.

"Go from here!" Kai yelled, "Let me be alone for sometimes."

Tyson heaved a sigh. He said, "Kai, look, it wasn't your guilt at all. It all was mine. If I hadn't missed those easy shots one after one, then it wouldn't have happened. We could have won the match. But don't blame yourself for it, Kai."

"Kai..."

The dual-haired boy heard the voice of a raven-haired boy.

"It's enough, Kai." said he, "Though we haven't won the championship, but still, nobody hates you. We all are with you Kai. And every supporter, is with you still. We won't leave you ever. We're a team, Kai. And you're our leader. If you get weak, what will happen to us? Who will console us?"

"Really..." The boy thought, "I'm their leader. I shouldn't have got weak in this way."

Standing up, he went to the door and opened it.

"Kai, still we're with you." said the raven-haired boy, holding a pair of crouches.

"We won't leave you ever, no matter what happens." a blonde-haired boy said.

"Will you?" a navy-haired boy asked.

Kai heaved a sigh. Then he said, "Never."

**Epilogue: After the tournament, Bladebreakers met BEGA again in a friendly match. Ray was perfectly alright then, but poor Kai was having a problem of hamstring and so he couldn't play in that match. That match had been won by Bladebreakers, with a pair of goals and a pair of assists by Ray. And about the fangirls? Though it wasn't enough for them to forget the tragedy of world cup, still they managed to be happy a bit.

*****

**Okay Guys, now it's the time opening the true event. Let's see what is what and who is who :P **

**Tournament: The FIFA World Cup-2014. **

**Bladebreakers: The Argentina. (Guys, I'm a very very big fan and supporter of Argentina. When I remembered that scene, my eyes became filled with tears T_T)**

**Blitzkrieg boys: Brazil. (Though we're rivals, but I have a great respect for Brazil in my mind. Unlike other supporters of Argentina, I respect the Brazilian footballers.)**

**BEGA: Germany. (Ugh! I hate them! Sorry, if there's any fan of Germany :P)**

**All Starzs: Netherlands. **

**Majestics: The Mighty Spain. (Man, I felt really bad when they had to be eliminated in the last world cup so miserably :( **

**Blade Sharks: You may think it as Barcelona :P **

**Tala: Neymar Da Silva. (I felt bad for him, when he was injured and his world cup was finished. :(**

**Julia: My best friend, Jarin. She cried very much when Neymar was injured. Seeing her condition, I also couldn't control my grief.**

**Ray: Angel Di Maria/Sergio Aguero (Both were injured during the world cup. I wish they had been with us, we might grab the world cup :( **

**Mariah: My another closest friend, Nisa. Don't like Di Maria or Aguero a lot, but a fan of Argentina. When when Jarin taunted me, Nisa was always with me for supporting me. **

**Tyson: Gonzalo Higuain (Damn you Higuain, if you hadn't missed those shots in the final, we might have won. Let it be, let bygones be bygones (sighs) **

**Max: Sergio Romero, the goalkeeper. **

**Kai Hiwatari: I won't tell guys, guess it.**

**Hilary Tachibana: Do I need to tell who the crazy fangirl was? (Blushing)**

**P.S: I don't know how is it, good or bad. Please read and review. I know, I always hit upon such weird and funny ideas. :P Still, inform me about it. Should I keep it or burn it :P And other: I'm thinking of making a crime thriller about beyblade, featuring every mission of silent assassin Kai Hiwatari. So should I make it? Vote please!
